

Personal Attendant Services Program

The Personal Assistance Services Program provides personal care for adults who live in private homes in order to work, volunteer and/or attend school. Trained assistants can help with personal care, routine household management tasks, chores/errands, mobility and communication.

This service is designed to allow persons with disabilities to remain in their residence, be employed or receive employment-related training and education. Residents of Camden County with permanent physical disabilities between the ages of 18 and 70, capable of self-directing services, are eligible to participate in the program.
